Your department, in one lesson

Every lesson has the same seven moments. This is what each of them asks of you.

THE SEVEN MOMENTS OF EVERY LESSON

▌ yours ▏ you are in the room no bar: not yours

		You bring	You do	You leave behind
▏	1 Board opening	—	The Board walks through the Decision Log. You may correct them.	Write down any decision that touches your department.
▏	2 Commitments review	The assignment you handed in on Brightspace before today.	Your manager answers for your department: met · not met and why · adjusted in advance. You get feedback on what you handed in.	The feedback. Nothing is graded during the run.
▏	3 Masterclass	—	The tool of the week. This is the only new theory you get.	— break
	4 Management Team	What you can realistically promise for next lesson.	Your manager takes it to the MT. The other four of you are not in that meeting.	Your promise, in your manager's hands.
▌	5 Councils	Your department's question, data or product for this week.	All five of you leave the table, each to a different council — one person from every department.	Whatever your council writes down. An agreement that is not written did not happen.
▌	6 Department work	What each of you brought back from your council.	The only moment all five of you work together. Put the pieces side by side.	A shared next step, and the cross-delivery you owe another department.
▏	7 Board close	The one thing you can have ready next lesson.	Your manager says it out loud, for the whole company to hear.	Your department's commitment, in the MT minutes and one line in the log.

NEXT LESSON

YOUR FIVE ROLES, AND WHERE EACH ONE GOES

Role	Sits in	Delivers every lesson
Department Manager	B1 Management Team	Board Memo (1 A4) and your department's commitment
Data & Interface Officer	B2 Data Council	Interface Agreements
Technology Officer	B3 Technology Council	an entry in the Technology Register
Business Case Officer	B4 Investment Council	an entry in the Investment Register
Integration & Communication Officer	B5 Communication Council	a piece of the one company storyline

- The council always meets before department work.
- Every lesson ends with a commitment; the next opens with the check on it.

Inventory & SCM works with four: one person is both Technology and Business Case Officer and sits in the Investment Council. Your own work lives in your private channel A1–A7; what the whole company shares lives in 01 Board, 02 Registers and 03 Cross-deliveries.

Three lessons differ: lesson 1 has no review yet, lesson 6 replaces the MT and the councils with the Interim Board Review, and lesson 9 is still being decided.
